HOLY ROSARY CATHOLIC CHURCH

June 23, 2019

With five thousand men (we do not know the total number in the crowd because Luke does not tell us how many women and children were present) to feed, all the Twelve have are five loaves and two fish. Jesus asks the Twelve to divide the masses into groups of fifty, and without arguing about whether or not there would be enough food, the Twelve follow his instructions. Jesus took, blessed, and broke the provisions, and the disciples share them. Everyone ate. Everyone was satisfied. Even more could have shared the meal Jesus provided. Such is how Jesus feeds us in the Eucharist today. There is always enough of Jesus for others to join the assembly.

GOSPEL MEDITATION - ENCOURAGE DEEPER UNDERSTANDING OF SCRIPTURE

June 23, 2019

The Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ

"They all ate and were satisfied." Why read the miracle of the multiplication of the loaves this Sunday? Here we see the mystery of our physical and spiritual realities intermingling. Too often, they can feel separate. When we go to Mass, how often we appear more ordinarily human rather than stretching toward the divine.

Perhaps our experience of the Eucharist is fairly mundane. We notice when a new sacramental wine has been selected. We feel the varying textures of the host and wonder if they'll ever bring back the one that tasted distinctly like wheat. As we shuffle up to the front and stride back to our pew, we notice the looks on people's faces and the clothes on their backs. We get distracted by the crying child, the man blowing his nose, and the mechanical sound of the air conditioner kicking in. How human we are, how earth-bound, how material!

And how good God is for entering into these selfsame realities. How good God is for proclaiming "the kingdom of God," for "heal[ing] those who needed to be cured," for having mercy on a tired and hungry crowd. How many of the crowd noticed what had been done for them? Did they realize their dinner was a miracle? How often do we miss the deeper reality of the Eucharist? Even if in the moment of receiving Communion we don't experience radical ecstasy and don't feel any different, there is a tangible reality to cling to. Our God loves us enough to become bread for us, not only to feed us but to be fed upon by us.
